DETAILED ACTION

Request for Continued Examination (RCE)

The RCE filed on April 2, 2007 has been processed. A non-final action follows.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-5, 8-10, and 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Breuninger (2002/0062271).

Breuninger discloses a system for managing portfolio accounts comprising managing small investment accounts involving a financial service provider, a third party financial intermediary and client investors associated with the financial intermediary, using a global computer network, wherein the system is hosted by the financial service provider only on behalf of one or more financial intermediaries, each having individual network sites linked to the host financial service provider, wherein each financial intermediary serviced by said financial service provider has a separate individual network site originated and maintained by the financial service provider, each of said separate individual network sites being customized to resemble the financial intermediary's own network site, which is separate from the network site maintained by the financial service provider, a first portion, available on an individual network site of a financial intermediary~ at a facility of the financial intermediary, in the company of an investment professional associated with the financial intermediary, from the first portion provided by the financial service provider on the global computer network, which includes a series of questions to be answered by a client investor, directed toward determining a risk profile of the client investor, permitting a corresponding investment recommendation to be made by the system from a plurality of possible investments, a second portion, available on said individual network site of the financial intermediary, at the facility of the financial intermediary, in the company of an investment professional associated with the financial intermediary, from the second portion provided by the financial service provider on the global computer network, for providing selected information concerning said investment recommendation, and a third portion, available on said individual network site of the financial intermediary, at the facility of the financial intermediary, in the company of an investment professional associated with the financial intermediary, from the third portion provided by the financial service provider on the global computer network, for completion of an investment application by the client investor, the investment application being automatically provided by the financial service provider, and for subsequent transmittal thereof to the financial service provider, which opens and maintains an investment account for the client investor on behalf of the financial intermediary and provides both the client investor and the financial intermediary confirmation information concerning the new application (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); the financial intermediary has a plurality of client investors served by the system (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); the possible investments are proprietary products of the financial service provider (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); the possible investments include non-proprietary products relative to the financial service provider (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); another portion, available on said individual network site of the financial intermediary from the financial service provider on the global computer network, which provides educational information and selected disclosure information concerning investments and information concerning particular investment products available from the financial service provider (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); the individual client investor has the ability to change the risk profile and/or the investment recommendation to a selected extent (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); one or more of said system portions, when printed from the financial intermediary's individual network site, have a space for a signature by the client investor (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); the financial service provider maintains complete records concerning each investment made for each said client investors and provides periodic reports to each client investor concerning their investments (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); the financial service provider, following receipt of a signed copy of the new application with necessary funds, opens an account for the client investor without significant further entry of any information (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); the first portion includes a series of multiple choice questions, the result of which is tabulated by the system into a numerical value representing the risk profile of the client investor (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); the second portion includes information concerning the risk profile of a typical investor in the recommended investment, and other selected characteristics of the recommended investment (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28); and the recommended investment is selected from a plurality of mutual fund investments (p.1, 7-16; p.2, 21-24; and p.2, 27 to p.3, 28).

Although the Examiner has pointed out particular references contained in the prior art(s) of record in the body of this action, the specified citations are merely representative of the teachings in the art as applied to the specific limitations within the individual claim. Since other passages and figures may apply to the claimed invention as well, it is respectfully requested that the applicant, in preparing the response, to consider fully the entire references as potentially teaching all of the claimed invention, as well as the context of the passage as taught by the prior arts or disclosed by the Examiner.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5, 8-10, and 13-16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
